

Coaching Quality Improvement Projects (C-QuIP) 2019-2020
A Longitudinal Course for Faculty

- Have you been asked to teach and mentor trainees in QI work but feel like you are just learning it yourself?
- Have you been teaching and mentoring QI work for a few years but would like to enhance your effectiveness?
- Do you struggle to engage your learners in QI work?
- Do you wish that you had access to a broader network of faculty who have similar roles and are willing to share their strategies for success in QI education?

*If you answered yes to 1 or more of these questions...
this course may be for you!*

Course Objectives:

The purpose of the C-QuIP course is to provide participants with the skills and tools to successfully guide learners in experiential quality improvement (QI) work while developing a network of educators with similar roles. Faculty will be placed into groups based upon their level of experience and comfort in teaching and advising in this field.

Both groups will discuss topics such as project selection, using a QI framework to structure your teaching, key organizational and team factors, providing feedback, common teacher and learner pitfalls, and many others.

Course Directors:

Elena Huang MD, Jennifer Myers MD, and Neha Patel MD MS
